Stewardship Corner

In today's reading, St. Paul reminds the Romans—and us—that all things come from God: "For from Him and through Him and for Him all things are." Good stewards understand that all is gift and share generously the gifts of time, talent, and treasure with which they've been blessed.

Save the Date!

St. Monica's Circle is restarting the "Young at Heart" luncheon. All parishioners over 55 years of age are invited to a noon luncheon in the social hall on Wednesday, September 20, 2023.

Service to Others

Metro Catholic Outreach

Can Openers Needed

We seldom have can openers on our shelves here at MCO, but recently our Pantry Manager Jackie came up with one when a homeless client asked. Wow, they were so grateful! Imagine trying to pry open canned food with anything else. The homeless bags we distribute contain food in easy-open containers, but people living on the streets of Cedar Rapids end up with a variety of food in all sorts of packaging. A manual can opener is such a common item for us, but what a luxury this really is! Please consider including any extras that are probably already in your kitchen drawer with your next donation.

Regis Middle School Help Wanted

Regis Middle School is currently seeking a part-time food service worker in our school lunchroom. The person filling this position should plan to work Wednesday - Friday, 10 am - 12:30 pm. Lunch is included. Contact Shelly Perkins at sperkins@regisroyals.org or 319-363-1968.

Returning this Fall

Children's Liturgy of the Word. We will be offering this special programming for our young parishioners ages 4-6. Children's Liturgy of the Word will take place on Sunday mornings during the 9:00 am Mass beginning in October. More information and opportunities to register will be shared via the All Saints website later this month.

At this time, we are seeking adult volunteers who have been confirmed in the Catholic Church to assist us in leading the weekly programming.

If you'd like to serve our parish in this ministry or are interested in learning more about this role, please contact Stacy Cataldo, Director of Children's Formation, via email: catechesis@allsaintscr.com

Welcome Father Viller Constanvil

Metro Catholic Schools Systemization Survey

Over the course of the last year, a committee of 19 individuals throughout the Cedar Rapids metro Catholic communities, also known as the Cedar Rapids Metro Task Force, have reviewed the current educational processes, governance structures, and practices within our metro area Catholic schools and parishes. This was in an effort to enter into discussion and dialogue about the vision of the future for the Cedar Rapids metro Catholic schools and ensuring that in the next five to twenty-five years these schools have positioned all our Catholic Schools to be successful, while continuing to fulfill the mission of the Catholic Church.

The work of the Cedar Rapids metro task force was extensive and has all been shared on the Xavier Catholic Schools webpage (www.crxaviercatholicschools.org/cr-metro-task-force) for your review.

The Cedar Rapids metro task force recommends systemization of the Cedar Rapids Metro Catholic schools. Please take time to go to this link and provide your feedback by filling out their survey: Survey Link

That Man is You!

My name is Jason Miller and I'm a parishioner at St. Elizabeth's who grew up in CR attending St. Joseph's in Marion for school and church, as well as graduating from Regis High School in '98.

Last year I worked with Father Gary to launch That Man Is You! at St. E's. We had an average of 50 men attending on Thursday mornings with men joining from St. E's, All Saints, St. Patrick's, St. Pius and St. Joes.

We are getting ready to start again on Sept 14th...Thursday mornings from 6-7:30 am in Seton Hall...13 weeks in the fall and 13 in the spring. We look forward to shaking your hand this September.

You Are Cordially Invited...

Welcome to the Twenty-first Sunday in Ordinary Time. Today's New Testament reading from Paul's letter to the Romans is a puzzle piece that fits perfectly with the Gospel reading. The four short verses are an awesome ending to the argument that Paul sets up in chapters 9 - 11 in which he is building the case for his Roman audience that God's mercy is for all. Scott Hahn and Curtis Mitch in their commentary on Romans sum up it up as such: "Paul has set forth his case that God is faithful to his word even when Israel is not...He maintains that God's love for his covenant people endures so much so that 'all Israel will be saved.' How this will come about is a mystery that leaves Paul in awe. It involves God hardening a part of Israel, opening a door of salvation for the nations, and in the process wooing the entire family of Israel back into his arms. In the end, Israel and the Gentiles stand together as a single family of faith, boasting not of themselves but owing everything to the mercy of God." Similar to when Zechariah and Mary are both so convicted of God's greatness and mercy, that they break into extended praise and glory of God, as Paul winds up his thoughts, he, too, is overwhelmed by the mercy of God revealed in his argument. "Oh, the depth of the riches and wisdom and knowledge of God! How inscrutable are his judgments and how unsearchable his ways! For who has known the mind of the Lord or who has been his counselor? Or who has given the Lord anything that he may be repaid? For from him and through him and for him are all things. To him be glory forever. Amen."

A few nights ago, I was sitting on our deck, watching the sunset. My mind started to wander and I started to reflect on several stages of my life (a fitting title would have been, "The Good, the Bad and the Ugly!") What really came through, though, was the hand of God and his generous mercy. I did not see it nor feel it at the time, but looking back and fitting all the pieces together, it couldn't have been any clearer. I felt small and big at the same time; humble, yet boastful; the last, who had been made first on more occasions than I deserved. In grateful thanksgiving, I, too, felt like breaking into song and dance in praise of our mysterious, yet awesome God. I was graced to experience a glimpse of how Zechariah, Mary and Paul may have felt as they pondered their own life experiences with God.

As I read today's Gospel, I wonder if Jesus may have felt a little like this when Simon Peter answered his query. He is certainly very magnanimous in his response, "And so I say to you, you are Peter, and upon this rock I will build my church, and the gates of the netherworld shall not prevail against it. I will give you the keys to the kingdom of heaven. Whatever you bind on earth shall be bound in heaven; and whatever you loose on earth shall be loosed in heaven." I wonder if Peter, looking back on his life when he was much older, also, had moments when he marveled at God's generous mercy. I wonder if he felt small and big at the same time; humble, yet boastful; the last, who had been made first on more occasions than he deserved. In grateful thanksgiving, I wonder if he, too, felt like breaking into song and dance in praise of our mysterious, yet awesome God.

And so, I invite you to Mass (and then the next and the next...) If you know someone who has been absent or who is seeking God to come into their life, invite them to join you! One small act this week - take a few minutes and reflect on a time of your life that was challenging - can you identify the hand of God? Can you say, thank-you, in response? An attitude of gratitude is built with one thank you at a time. Love God - Serve Others - Form Disciples. Praying and hoping with you always.

Announcing Archbishop-elect Zinkula

Just “Say” It

Jesus questions the faith of his disciples by asking them, “Who do people say that the Son of Man is?” The responded that some say he is John the Baptist, others believe him to be the prophet Elijah or Jeremiah. Peter answers, “You are the Messiah, the Son of the living God.” Jesus blesses him by giving him the keys to the kingdom, making him the head of the church.

Peter, the apostle who sank while trying to walk on water because of his lack of faith, receives Jesus’ highest affirmation. “You are Peter, and on this rock I will build my church, and the gates of Hades will not prevail against it” (v. 18). Peter goes on to deny Jesus, repent, and eventually become the leader Jesus knew he could be.

Peter is so wonderfully human in all the stories we hear about him. He is impulsive, he blunders, and he makes mistakes. Sometimes he seems almost childlike when he is around Jesus. Perhaps it is that childlike quality in Peter that allows him to see who Jesus really is, the Christ, son of the living God.

Children can be so incredibly honest. They can see right through facades and superficial appearances to the core of a person or situation. They blurt out what they think, sometimes to our own embarrassment. They are as quick to forgive as they are to condemn.

Then, one day when they are eight or nine or ten, they begin to learn how to hide their thoughts and feelings. They begin to practice saying what they know or think we want them to say. They are maturing and this is good, but how can we help them keep the best of their childhood qualities and still be able to go out in polite society?

I think the process must have something to do with being consistent in our patience and love. It involves giving enthusiastic affirmations and gentle, private corrections. That is certainly how Jesus treated Peter, and look how well he turned out—first pope, leader of the church, and the holder of the keys.

FAMILY RESPONSE

Ask each person to name three things about themselves that they really like. Make sure you remind children to listen well. Do not allow any teasing or laughing.

PERSONAL RESPONSE

What childlike qualities do you need to claim or reclaim to make your life easier or more comfortable? What do you want to remember from last week? What are you looking forward to next week? What are your concerns?
