Service to Others

Metro Catholic Outreach

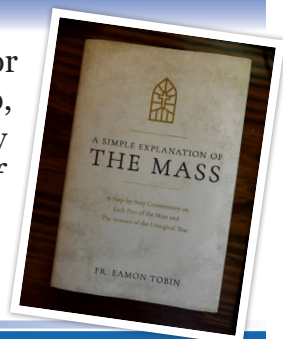

Changes are always happening around us -- days get shorter, months turn over, seasons change from one to the other and our community changes too. In the twelve years of MCO, there have been two Directors, one Garden Manager, two Pantry Managers, and two Volunteer Managers. While you are stuck with me for a while yet, our Pantry Manager Jackie is retiring November 2nd. She has led our food pantry through a pandemic, aftermath of a derecho, and seeing an astonishing growth in those needing food. Volunteers have changed, procedures have changed, and needs have changed. Jackie has led us through with grace, laughter, and a few frustrations, but she has left us in a place ready to welcome our new Pantry Manager Robyn.

Please stop in next week to wish Jackie well, and the following week to welcome Robyn. Change is usually a time of uncertainty, but in this case, I am confident we will manage it with calm and continued support for our community. Expect to see Jackie back volunteering in a few months, but I promised to let her rest for a bit before bothering her to help.

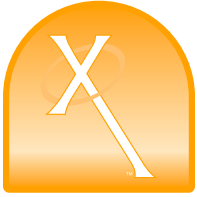

Potluck Learning Event

Please join us on Sunday, November 12 from 5-7 pm in the Social Hall for a fun, casual potluck gathering. In addition to sharing food and fellowship, we will view videos from Bishop Robert Barron about the Mass. Each family will receive a free book by Fr. Eamon Tobin called A Simple Explanation of the Mass. Please bring a dish to share. Everyone is welcome!

A Perfect Pairing - Haitians & Iowans: Agriculture for the Table

By Steve and Peg Schmitz

This is the last weekend of our fall fundraiser to support our sister parish, Notre Dame de Lourdes. If you haven't already done so, please take home one of the photos hanging in the church ambulatory and pray for the students, teachers, doctors and farmers from our sister parish.

This is the third and final article in our "Perfect Pairing" series. The first two focused on our common values of education and medical care. Another commonality is agriculture, but there's a key difference between our Iowa parishes and our Haitian sister parish. Agriculture in Haiti is primarily a source of food rather than a source of income.

We have visited our sister parish 17 times in the past 23 years and our sister parish priests have visited us 6 times. During each visit, we worship with them, learn with them and share food with them. But a big difference in our visits to Haiti is that most of the food we share is grown locally, in small gardens and with no machinery. Their hard manual labor and timely rains make all the difference between food on the table and an empty stomach. Here, we pray for good weather and timely crops but to a great extent what we grow is not very closely linked to what appears on our tables.

You have made a big difference in the past several years by your generous support of the Take Away Hunger meal packaging events. Since 2011 you have packaged and sent over 287,000 meals to our sister parish. We continue to hold TAH packing events and we will ship those meals as soon as it is possible and safe to do so. The meals we send make a big difference in villages where the gardens fail due to drought or severe storms. We've also been able to provide seeds that allow farmers to replant after hurricanes. Once again it is likely that your kindness and generosity has saved lives. God uses ordinary people to do the unexpected.

We would love to have you join the Haiti committee. We need your talents to continue supporting our sister parish. Please pray for the people of Haiti as they labor to grow their food.

Your $150 gift, or whatever you wish to give, helps pay tuition and teacher salaries, provides healthcare from the local doctors we educated, and puts food on the table of fellow farmers.

You Are Cordially Invited...

Welcome to the Thirty-first Sunday in Ordinary Time. All of the readings this week focus on humility of self as a way to both honor God and to show love of neighbor. This is a great theme to ponder as we enter into the month of November and focus on the qualities of and need for stewardship.

Pope Francis expands our understanding of the tie between humility and service to God and to one another, “We disciples of Jesus must not seek titles of honour, of authority or supremacy. I tell you, it pains me personally to see people who, psychologically, live in pursuit of vain accolades. We disciples of Jesus must not do this, because among ourselves there must be a simple and fraternal attitude. We are all brothers and sisters and in no way must we abuse others or look down on them. No. We are all brothers and sisters. If we have received talents from the heavenly Father, we must place them at the service of our brothers and sisters, and not exploit them for our own satisfaction and personal interests. We must not consider ourselves superior to others; modesty is essential for an existence that seeks to conform to the teaching of Jesus, who is meek and humble of heart and came not to be served but to serve.”

This same connection is echoed in the introduction of the U.S. Bishops’ Pastoral Letter on Stewardship: “Stewardship is an expression of discipleship, with the power to change how we understand and live out our lives. Disciples who practice stewardship recognize God as the origin of life, the giver of freedom, the source of all they have and are and will be. They are deeply aware of the truth that “The Lord’s are the earth and its fullness; the world and those who dwell in it” (Ps 24:1). They know themselves to be recipients and caretakers of God’s many gifts. They are grateful for what they have received and eager to cultivate their gifts out of love for God and one another.”

One way to better understand this is to picture a rock skipping on top of water. The rock is an individual element and remains an individual throughout its journey, but it creates waves every time it touches the water and those waves intersect as they ebb and flow. The same is true with the Eucharist. Its beginning was a singular event in time, but as we remember it each time at Mass, it touches us, which in turn allows us to share its grace and nourishment with others. How do we do this? Simply by sharing our time, talent and treasures.

Our current culture would have us believe that time is in short supply. Not so. Many of us are very busy with many activities, like Martha. Have we looked at our schedules through the lens of stewardship? If we did, we might realize that some of those activities feed not our brothers and sisters, but only our own ego. God has graced all of us with talents - how are we using those? Do we use them to receive accolades and build our own financial silos or do we quietly share those talents to make life more equitable for our community and our world? How are we using our financial gifts? There is a song by Christian artist, Matthew West called Do Something. The lyrics sum up our call to stewardship, to share our blessings of time, talent and financial treasure with each other:

I woke up this morning	He said, “I did, I created you”	It’s alright, “somebody else will do something”
Saw a world full of trouble now	If not us, then who	Well, I don’t know about you
Thought, how’d we ever get so far down	If not me and you	But I’m sick and tired of life with no desire
How’s it ever gonna turn around	Right now, it’s time for us to do something	I don’t want a flame, I want a fire
So I turned my eyes to Heaven	If not now, then when	I wanna be the one who stands up and says,
I thought, “God, why don’t You do something?”	Will we see an end	“I’m gonna do something”
Well, I just couldn’t bear the thought of	To all this pain	We are the salt of the earth
People living in poverty	It’s not enough to do nothing	We are a city on a hill
Children sold into slavery	It’s time for us to do something	But we’re never gonna change the world
The thought disgusted me	I’m so tired of talking	By standing still
So, I shook my fist at Heaven	About how we are God’s hands and feet	No we won’t stand still
Said, “God, why don’t You do something?”	But it’s easier to say than to be	No we won’t stand still
	Live like angels of apathy who tell ourselves	No we won’t stand still

And so, I invite you to Mass (and then the next and the next...) If you know someone who has been absent or who is seeking God to come into their life, invite them to join you! If you have been absent for a while, come back - we need you and love you. Love God - Serve Others - Form Disciples. Praying and hoping with you always.

Unwrapping Your Spiritual Gifts

"To each person the Manifestation of the Spirit is given for common good"

1 Corinthians 12:7

Do you like to help others but don't seek recognition?

Are you able to lead a group efficiently and see what needs to be done?

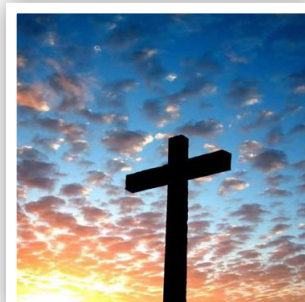

Do people seek you out to listen to their stories or ask your advice?

Are you drawn to prayer for the needs of others?

Have you wondered why you really enjoy certain things and not others?

This informative workshop looks at ways to identify those God given gifts and how they are manifested in our lives.

True Humility

Humility Jesus tells his followers they are to respect the law, but not to follow the example of the Scribes and Pharisees. Jesus accuses both groups of not practicing what they preach, of putting huge burdens on the people and of always wanting to sit in the places of honor

To be humble is simply to be honest about our gifts and accomplishments. It doesn't mean running yourself down any more than it means talking yourself up. Humility is saying "thank you" when someone compliments you on your achievement. Hanging your head and telling them Betty Jo is so much better is really false humility. Humility acknowledges your strong points as well as your weak ones.

Teach your children humility by taking care when you compliment them. Affirmation and congratulations are important to everyone, and most especially to youngsters. But hearing, "Great work!" for everything they do soon loses any meaning. Decide on your degrees of superlatives (good going, great work, excellent job, for example) and try to use them as consistently as possible.

Help your child develop an internal sense of accomplishment by letting her evaluate her own work. Try using a scale of one to five, or if she is little, a sad face to a big smiley face. Let your child know you like her work and then ask her how she likes it. Make sure at least one piece of work has a smiley face on it.

If at all possible find some time for yourself to do something creative: knitting, scrapbooking, painting, writing, learning how to play an instrument, gardening or interior designing. You were given certain gifts and talents—acknowledge them, develop them and thank God for them. That's true humility.

FAMILY RESPONSE

Ask each family member what one talent they would like to have. How can they go about getting it?

PERSONAL RESPONSE

Take some time for silent prayer and then in honest humility, write down your good qualities.

Childrens Formation

Altar Server Training

If your child has been baptized and is in grades 4-12, please consider inviting them to join Father Jack and Deacon Mike for altar server training following the 4:00 pm or 9:00 am Mass the weekend of November 11/12, 2023. Parents are welcome to wait in the narthex. Training will take approximately one hour. To register your child for training, please contact Stacy Cataldo. catechesis@allsaintscr.com

Children's Liturgy of the Word

We are excited to announce that Children's Liturgy of the Word will begin Sunday, November 12, 2023 during the 9:00 am Mass. Children will gather in the social hall before Mass begins and will return to their families prior to the Liturgy of the Eucharist. This program is available to parish children in grades K-2. Space is limited to 20 children. An email will be sent to all parish families with a child in grades K-2 this week with registration instructions. It is important that your contact information is up to date in our parish database so that you receive this communication. We are thrilled to be able to offer this opportunity to our All Saints families. Advent Wreath Lighting

The hospitality committee is seeking families to assist in the lighting of the wreath this Advent season. Volunteers are needed for the 4:00 pm and 9:00 am masses. Please watch the bulletin and social media for the sign up opportunity.

Eucharistic Adoration on Monday Evenings during Advent

Eucharistic Adoration is a Catholic devotion dating back to the early days of the Church. It involves the exposition of the Blessed Sacrament and offers the faithful time to sit and pray in the presence of Jesus.

During Advent this year, there will be three opportunities to attend Eucharistic Adoration on Monday evenings. Please join us on December 4th, 11th, and 18th from 5:30 to 6:30 p.m. in the chapel for this incredibly special time of prayerful meditation.

From Mt. Calvary Cemetery

November is the month in which we remember the dead. During this time, we continue to pray for those who have gone before us in faith that they might be embraced by God. Did you know that praying in a Catholic cemetery is a Spiritual Act of Mercy that results in indulgences being granted for the Souls in Purgatory? And from November 1 through the 8th, those indulgences are Plenary.

Consider coming out to Mt Calvary Cemetery to pray for family and friends that are resting here. And, in case you haven't chosen your final resting place yet, have a look around and discover the beauty and serenity of our sacred grounds.

Ablaze Youth Ministry

NEWSLETTER

October 2023

October 2023

Halloween Party

Ablaze celebrated its second annual Halloween Party on October 29th. Our Halloween Party is a fun gathering where we remember the Christian roots and aspects of Halloween which also flows into All Saints Day and All Souls Day.

We started with Catholic Halloween Trivia. Afterwards, we let the games begin with costume and pumpkin painting contests. We ended the night with a fun game of Hide-and-Go-Seek.

Volunteers Needed

Ablaze is in need of adult volunteers. Our adult volunteers help lead small groups and actively connect with students through conversation and activities. There is never preparation needed, just come and experience life with us. The job is simple and the schedule is flexible.

For more information, reach out to youthministry@allsaints.com.

October 1

On the first Sunday of October, we finished our series on the Holy Trinity. In this session, we explored God the Holy Spirit. We learned about some of the attributes of the Holy Spirit such as energizing, empowering, creative, and collaborative.

October 8

The second Sunday of the month was devoted to community building. We made personal pizzas, enjoyed icebreakers, and spent some time playing volleyball and kickball outside!

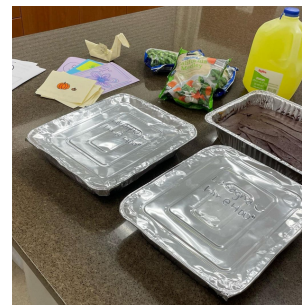

October 22

On our third Sunday of October, students took part in a service opportunity. Together, Ablaze made a meal for the Catholic Worker House. Before starting our project, we discussed the basics of Catholic Social Teaching, church teaching comprised of writings from Popes and other Catholic leaders that help us answer the question: "What would Jesus do?"

Students also learned about Dorothy Day, a powerhouse Catholic who founded the Catholic Worker House movement in the 1930's, which feeds and houses people still today. It is important for us to know the "why" before we do something. Our why, when connected to our faith, becomes a stronger why. Learning about Catholic Social Teaching and people who actively express that through their life can help us understand our why and give us an example to follow.

Students worked together to make lasagna and cake. Lemonade and frozen vegetables were also donated for the meal. Some students made cards and coloring books for the young children at the Catholic Worker House.
