Stewardship Corner

Our limited human understanding cannot begin to understand the immense power of God. Instead of trusting in God, we often think we can control every outcome. Do you want to make God laugh? Tell Him your plans. The next time worry, anxiety or fear creeps in, thank God for all He has given you and trust that He has a better plan for you. Stewards make God their first choice and not their last resort.

A Weekly Tip on Caring for Our Common Home

If you smoke cigarettes or know someone who does, consider that quitting can help the environment. By sheer numbers, cigarette butts top the list of plastics littering the world's beaches (2.4 million were collected in one brief beach-cleanup period last year). The cotton-like fibers in cigarette filters are made of plastic, and once on beaches or in the ocean they can be ingested by marine life, damaging the food chain.

For the Married Couples

"Do not let your hearts be troubled or afraid...I am going away and I will come back to you" (John 14:27-29). Separations like business trips or military deployments can strain a marriage. Plan a daily way to reconnect, even if it is simply to pick a common time to pray for each other.

From the Sisters of Mercy

As we Sisters of Mercy celebrate 150 years, we lovingly remember the places we've been and the people who touched our lives. Though we are no longer present in person, please know that we remember you and continue to hold All Saints and its people dear to our hearts.

Everyday Metanoia

Welcome to the 6th Sunday of Easter. A quick reminder that in most dioceses in the United States, the celebration of the Holy day of the Ascension of the Lord, has been transferred from Thursday, May 29 to Sunday, June 1. We'll talk more about that next week.

This portion of John's Gospel is included in what is known as the Farewell Discourse I (John 13:31 - 14:31) - the words and teachings of Jesus as he is preparing the disciples for his death and how the life of ministry will look without his earthly presence. That makes sense as many of us have walked with someone who is dying and the same happens. When possible, the dying person prepares those around them for their death, assures them of their love, and imparts any final words or instructions that are needed. So at face value, this farewell discourse from Jesus to the disciples replicates what we know today. There is an importance difference, though, that emphasizes the differentiation between our human love toward one another and that of the Father and the Son given to us. The disciples are assured that even after Jesus' death and departure for this earth, that they will not be alone. When we love Jesus and keep his word, the Father promises us the same: "Whoever loves me will keep my word and my Father will love him, and we will come to him and make our dwelling within him...The Advocate, the Holy Spirit, whom the Father will send in my name, will teach you everything and remind you of all that I told you." Francis J. Moloney, SDB in his commentary on the Gospel of John, reveals the importance of this act of love on the part of the Father and the Son: "The teaching of the Holy Spirit recalls what Jesus has said, taking it deeper and farther into the memory and consciousness of the disciples of Jesus during the in-between time [the time between Jesus' death and his return]." In this process the love of the Father and the Son moves from the mind to the heart and becomes a source of actionable love that knows no boundaries or divisions.

Today, we find ourselves still living during the in-between time. Calling upon the power of the Holy Spirit to enliven us is even more important as the message of our modern world becomes more secular and encourages us to live lives independent of the Gospel. Pope Francis responded to this by saying, "Christians must rely more on the Holy Spirit than on their own plans and strategies if they hope to fulfill their mission to share the good news of God's love and of salvation in Christ... Without the Holy Spirit all zeal [of evangelization] is vain and falsely apostolic: it would only be our own and would not bear fruit...The Lord has not left us pastoral manuals to apply, but the Holy Spirit who inspires the mission...At the center of all evangelizing activity and all efforts at church renewal, is the simple Gospel truth: Jesus Christ loves you; he gave his life to save you; and now he is living at your side every day to enlighten, strengthen and free you."

Francis' successor, Pope Leo XIV echoed these same thoughts in his Inauguration Mass inviting all Christians "to be enlightened by the Holy Spirit, so that we might build a Church founded on God's love, a sign of unity, a missionary Church that opens its arms to the world, proclaims the word, allows itself to be made restless by history, and becomes a leaven of harmony for humanity."

This, then is the source of internal peace that Jesus was talking about - "Peace I leave with you; my peace I give to you. Not as the world gives do I give it to you." Together let us daily proclaim the Holy Spirit Prayer by St. Augustine: Breathe in me, O Holy Spirit, that my thoughts may all be holy. Act in me, O Holy Spirit, that my work, too, may be holy. Draw my heart, O Holy Spirit, that I love but what is holy. Strengthen me, O Holy Spirit, to defend all that is holy. Guard me, then, O Holy Spirit, that I always may be holy. Amen.

May God's peace be with you. See you at Mass!

Parish Office Summer Hours

Now that we've reached the end of the school year, it's a good time to remind everyone of changes to parish office hours. After Memorial Day, the office will be open Monday through Thursday from 8:00 am until 4:00 pm. On Fridays until Labor Day, the office will close at 1:00 so that our employees can make the most of their Summer. As always, secure boxes are conveniently located by the front and office doors for your offering envelopes before and after Mass as well as during parish office hours.

To better assist communication over the summer months when many office staff members will be enjoying some well-deserved time away for vacations, etc, we ask you reach out to them directly via email or phone to schedule a time to meet. While we always love to see you and chat, we would hate for you to spend time and gas only to find that the person you wish to see is on vacation. We hope that you can also make the most of your summer.

Meet Fr. Eric

I am Fr. Eric Kwame Saah, a Ghanaian born on 21st September 1985. I was ordained a priest on 19th July 2014. After my ordination, I worked as an associate priest for one year at St. Paul's Parish in Adjoafua, Ghana. I subsequently worked as a secretary to the Bishop from 2015 to 2019. In 2019 I was sent to Italy to study Canon Law. I am still in Italy and almost done with my doctoral studies in Canon Law.

I have a passion for priestly ministry. Outside this, I like reading, listening to music and taking a stroll.

Calling All Volunteers

Can you give a couple of hours once or twice per month to help those with food insecurity right here in our city?

Our volunteer shifts only last about two hours, morning or afternoon, Tuesdays, Wednesdays, or Thursdays.

Our pantry volunteers organize incoming donations, check expiration dates, stock shelves, bag up snacks, toiletries, produce, and pack the food boxes.

Our distribution volunteers add the fresh items to the food boxes on the dock, greet our clients as they arrive to pick up their groceries, and help load the cars.

Our volunteers in the office answer the door and phones, schedule clients for their food pick-ups, assemble and distribute the homeless bags, organize clothing donations and other supplies.

We are in need of more volunteers, in the pantry, the distribution dock, and in the office. We promise you will never be bored!

Contact us if you would like a tour and maybe try out a shift to see if it is a cause you would enjoy. You won't regret giving your time to help families in need!

Thank You, All Saints School

On behalf of Fr. Jack, the parish staff and the Pastoral Council, we want to thank Kelly Starr, Principal, along with all the teachers, staff and students for another great year. It is gratifying to watch our Christian teachings and values to be planted as mustard seeds and then see them grow and blossom in the nurturing setting of All Saints School. The sense of Christian community in the school, rooted in our Catholic teachings and values, is seen everyday throughout the year. We also wish to thank the parish members for their support as we follow our mission statement to Form Disciples. It is our prayer that our students, teachers and staff will continue to grow in their love of God, for one another and God's creation over the summer months. We look forward to seeing you at Mass!

May Crowning

An Exciting Announcement!

Hy-Vee receipts continue to add up quickly. Thank you!

A kind volunteer has stepped forward to take over duties of counting our receipts! The next time you see Lois Trcka after Mass, be sure to express to her your words of thanks. This can be a daunting and time-consuming task. Her efforts are very much appreciated by the parish and our school. Let's be sure, however, to make the task less challenging by checking the dates on those receipts to make sure they're not too old to be eligible for the Cash 4 Students project. Thank you, Lois, for your incredible gifts of time and talent!

Jesus Offers His Disciples Peace

Jesus promises his disciples to be with them and in them if they love him and keep his word. He promises to send the Holy Spirit, who will continue to teach them and remind them of what Jesus told them. Finally, Jesus tells them not to be troubled or afraid. He promises them his peace: "Peace I leave with you; my peace I give to you" (v. 27).

There were so many times in my years of parenting when all I wanted was a little peace. With seven of us in the house, it seemed there was always someone wanting something or arguing with somebody. As toddlers and teens, my kids badgered and whined, poked and pushed. Often I just wanted to say yes when no was the right answer, or give in to the loudest protester just for some peace and quiet.

Real peace, the peace Jesus talks about, is not the same as the peace which is the opposite of war. Arguments can continue, battles can be waged, people can disagree—but we can still experience God's peace. God's peace is not grounded in a particular condition or position. It is grounded in love. God's peace is an inner calm, a certainty that all will be well.

While peace and quiet do not necessarily go hand in hand, I discovered early in my parenting that I needed a little quiet to remind myself that God is with me and God is in me. I needed to set aside time each day when the kids were safely settled (usually during their daily dose of Sesame Street) to sit in quiet prayer. And I needed a yearly getaway retreat to rest and to restore body and spirit.

If you are like me and find it difficult to remain calm and not answer every angry word with an even angrier retort, if it is hard for you to say, "No, you can't," and not dissolve when called the meanest mom or dad in the world—then perhaps you, too, need to find some quiet time for prayer, to let go of your burdens and injuries so that your hands are free to accept God's gift of peace. Once you accept it, and rest in that gift, you can share it with all those around you.

FAMILY RESPONSE

Set some time aside for family quiet time—a half-hour or so for reading or working with puzzles. Make sure everyone is in the same room, but allow no talking.

PERSONAL RESPONSE

Find some time to be alone. Set a timer for five minutes and sit quietly in a chair. Put your feet on the floor, arms relaxed on your lap. Become aware of your breathing in and out. Try to get rid of all thoughts. Say the name Jesus slowly and reverently over and over.
